It's a New Year!

We have just wrapped up the first month of 2025! As our team reflects on our work at the MN DeafBlind Project over the past year, we continue striving to provide meaningful resources, services, and supports to families. We're grateful for your input and participation and we thank you for allowing us to be part of your community! We are looking forward to a fun and busy spring with many opportunities for connection and learning!

In this newsletter, you'll find highlights from our MN DeafBlind Project YouTube channel, upcoming family events (don't miss this!), and resources you might find valuable for your family.

RESOURCE HIGHLIGHT

New Resource! Communication video for families.

Our colleagues at the Texas DeafBlind Project developed this wonderful 35-minute new video, Interactions and Connections: Following Your Child's Lead with Your Conversations. "The Texas Deafblind Project and Statewide Outreach Center at the Texas School for the Deaf had such a great time collaborating in making this a reality. We hope you find it meaningful and confirming."

Remember, I'm available and would be happy to talk with you about specific communication interactions and strategies for your child. Please email me to schedule a time if you are interested. - Brandy

Innerhive

⊘innerhive

Innerhive was designed for parents who are caring for their child(ren) with a disability, genetic condition or other complex medical needs. They understand that caregiver burnout is real and significant and designed this tool, Innerhive to help families by:

- Save time and energy onboarding new school and care team members with a helpful visual to guide them
- Store and share important notes during appointments, care conferences, IEP meetings, and more
- Ensure that other caregivers have access to the info they need for bedtime routines to emergency contacts
- Share your story without needing to repeat yourself over and over again. Instead, share with those you trust and let your care map do the talking!
